

October 14, 2005

Mr. Chuck Mullaney
PajamaExecutive
12654 Whisper Trace Drive
Ocean City, MD 21842

Chuck,

I want to Thank You so much for the wonderful opportunity that you and your hard work and knowledge have given to me. My daughter who is 1 ½ years old has been recently diagnosed with Juvenile Diabetes. I was forced to quit my job in the stock market industry to stay home full time to care for my daughter. Your program has allowed me to make the income that I was making working for a major financial institution while being at home with my family.

I was skeptical top pay for your program figuring that it could not be hard to sell on eBay, BOY WAS I WRONG! I never knew that there was so much more to eBay than just listing an ad. By utilizing your website, question forum, and your personal emails; I have learned years of information in just a month. I would have spent months alone surfing the web looking for the tools and software that you provide for free on your website. You give 150% to all your students and eliminate a lot of the wasted time, energy, and money by providing a one stop approach to information.

I was not sure that I would be able to step outside of my comfort zone and be able to start my own business that allows me to stay home and care for my daughter while bringing in the income that I was not able to give up. I now truly understand what you meant when you told me, "If you wake up every morning and do the same thing everyday, your life and your paycheck will remain the same." You were right and I am now able to wake up every day to a new and exciting job (my own business), care for my family, stay in my pajamas, and make a great income!!

My family and I thank you in ways I can't even explain for providing the tools and knowledge to make my business a huge success.

Sincerely,
Michelle Thornburg
ROR's Trading Post, Inc.
President